

MEDIA RELEASE

For Immediate Release

June 18, 2009

Look whose leading the pack!

At the beginning of the season, all the talk was about Alan Cuthbertson taking home his fourth jockey title in a row and hall of fame jockey Gary Baze, from Washington, taking that distinction away. But look what is happening! The David amongst two Goliaths, Larren Delorme is leading rider.

Delorme sat on top of the jockey standings going into Wednesday night, but as if putting an exclamation point on that statement, he won four of the nine races on the card. The Devils Lake, North Dakota resident captured a four bagger after winning the daily double with El Mexicano in the first and La Ultima Cisco in the second. He also brought home the winner of the seventh, Mazel Star, and capped off the evening with a win in the last aboard Still Flying.

At age 24, Larren is taking the more seasoned riders to task at the moment. Can he keep up this pace?

Handle keeps growing on Wednesday

As if climbing a ladder, Wednesday's total wagering is steadily climbing higher and higher. Last night's handle of $221, 843 increased another 8% over the week before.

With the inclusion of many new racetracks in North America, Assiniboia Downs, aka, ASD, is getting in front of more racing fans from all over, including Lone Star Park in Dallas, Texas which got its first taste of Assiniboia Downs.

The racing season is far from over, but every Wednesday continues to provide a positive direction,” said Darren Dunn, director of operations. “I hope Tuesday’s can follow suit as well.”

Beginning next week, Assiniboia Downs will offer Tuesday night racing June 23, through July 14. Post Time for Tuesday night is 7 pm.

Track Invasion is coming!

The most popular promotion of last year is returning on Canada Day, Wednesday, July 1. Track Invasion which allows you to step out on hollowed ground and see what it might be like to be a race horse.

You will also be able to get jockey autographs from all of the jockeys riding at Assiniboia Downs and even stand in the starting gate. Then cheer on your favourite jockey in the second annual all-jockey foot race. Tyrone Nelson from Jamaica will try to defend his title as fastest jockey.

Canada Day racing starts at 1pm and the Track Invasion festivities will be after the last race.